

A large empty rectangular frame with a black border, intended for text input. The frame is centered on the page and occupies most of the vertical space. There are also small blue lines at the bottom left and bottom right corners of the page, possibly indicating crop marks or alignment guides.

